What Do You Take Tulsi Gabbard For? Some Kind Of Quote-Unquote 'Director' Of 'National Intelligence'?

It says a lot when you're testifying in a hearing alongside Kash Patel and you're the one who gets the headlines for being an embarrassing fuckup.

But if we've learned anything about Russia's girlfriend Tulsi Gabbard this year, it's that Russia likes its girlfriends and boyfriends very stupid.

Gabbard spent the day in front of the Senate Intelligence Committee on Wednesday — here's a link to the whole thing! — but she really didn't know what to say about a whole lot of things. Or she was scared to speak freely, so she just blib-blabbbed whatever contradictory words fell out of her mouth. It was a cool showing for the Director of National Intelligence.

For instance, does allegedly anti-war Tulsi — LMAO — believe in Donald Trump's chosen murder war in Iran? Let's watch her crumble in confusion under questioning by dashing Georgia Senator and guy who's smarter than the DNI Jon Ossoff!

Oh man, what was your favorite part of THAT?

Ossoff explained Gabbard's job to her, that she was the person who provides national intelligence to all kinds of people, who bring's the "IC's assessment of threats" to people, including the president.

Yes, she agreed.

He explained to Gabbard that her own opening statement said that last summer Donald Trump's Iranian strikes TOTALLY OBLITERATED the country's nuclear enrichment capabilities. Yes?

Yes, she agreed. Totally obliterated.

He explained to Gabbard that Gabbard had explained in her opening statement that Iran hadn't tried to reconstitute its nuclear enrichment capabilities. Yes?

Yes.

And that is the assessment of the intelligence community?

Yes.

He explained to Gabbard that Donald Trump (her boss) announced in March that he attacked Iran in order to save us all from the "imminent nuclear threat" posed by that country. HEEEEENNNNGH?

Heeeeeennnnnngh, she agreed.

Was it the assessment of the IC that there was an "imminent nuclear threat" from the Iranian regime?

Uhhhhh, well, the IC assessed that they totally still wanted to do nuclear stuff sometime.

Was it the assessment of the IC that there was an “imminent nuclear threat”?

Tulsi climbed Dumbfuck Mountain and planted a flag:

Gabbard said, “Senator, the only person who can determine what is and is not an imminent threat is the president ...”

“FALSE,” explained Jon Ossoff to the director of national intelligence in front of him.

“This is the Worldwide Threats Hearing,” Ossoff explained, in case she hadn’t seen the sign on the door of the hearing she was the star witness of. “Where you present to Congress national intelligence, timely, objective and independent of political considerations. You’ve stated today that the intelligence community’s assessment is that Iran’s nuclear enrichment program was ‘obliterated,’ and that ‘there had been no efforts since then’ to try to rebuild their enrichment capability. Was it the intelligence community’s assessment that, nevertheless, despite this obliteration, there was an ‘imminent nuclear threat’ posed by the Iranian regime?”

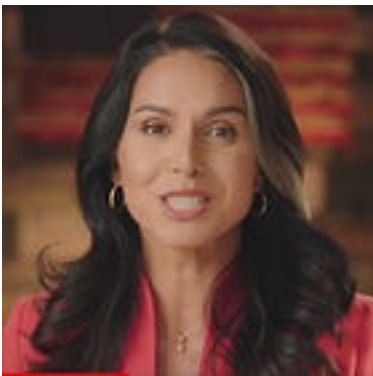

“It is not the intelligence community’s responsibility to determine what is and is not an imminent threat,” responded Gabbard.

Yes it is, dipshit, Jon Ossoff calmly clarified.

Tulsi ain’t know!

And that was yesterday’s hearing in a nutshell.

Gabbard, who came into the job not knowing what in the entire fuck Directors of National Intelligence do all day, has been walking on eggshells ever since her top deputy Joe Kent loudly resigned in protest of this stupid war. Of course, that guy pals around with white supremacists and antisemites, so you absolutely do not have to give him credit for being technically correct about the Iran war.
