TV tonight: a tearful new series of Portrait Artist of the Year

Portrait Artist of the Year 2025

8pm, Sky Arts

From the self-portraits submitted by amateur artists to the paintings they then do of celebrity sitters, this art contest is fascinating on every level. The first subjects of the 12th series are the TV presenter Alex Jones, the writer/actor Kyla Harris and the musician Yungblud (his special object is Ozzy Osbourne's necklace). The results are so wonderful that at one point nearly everyone is in tears. Hollie Richardson

Disclosure: Care Home Undercover

8pm, BBC Two

Reporter Catriona MacPhee went undercover as a cleaner in an Inverness care home and her investigation made headlines, with family members accusing the home of neglect and cruelty. Here is her full report with the secret recordings she made. HR

The Hack

9pm, ITV1

The phone-hacking drama reaches 2002, with the focus on DCS Dave Cook (Robert Carlyle). Assigned to the unsolved murder of private detective Daniel Morgan, Cook soon finds himself on the sharp end of the News of the World's dodgy practices. As his home life comes under stress, he has to decide: back off or double down? Jack Seale

Grand Designs

9pm, Channel 4

Kevin McCloud returns with the blueprint aspirational property show. In Durham, Sarah, an artist, has ambitious plans for a plot in the North Pennines. Her starting point is building walls with a sustainable material called hempcrete – made from the plant stems of cannabis sativa, lime binder and water. HR

Doc

9pm, Sky Witness

It's a big day for amnesiac medic Amy (Molly Parker) as the hit US drama continues. Even though a car wreck has erased her memory of the past eight years, she has been conditionally allowed to return to work. Her hospital colleagues remember her as a hard-nosed, House-style bossy-boots. Can Amy cope with life as a lowly intern? Graeme Virtue

A Remarkable Place to Die

9pm, U&Drama

Episode five of a New Zealand crime drama greatly elevated by its tourist-board-worthy scenery. Detective Anais (Chelsie Preston Crayford) is shaken when a connection emerges between the death of two hikers and the murder of her own father. Is it time for her to be taken off the case? Hannah J Davies

Live sport

Champions League football: Union Saint-Gilloise v Newcastle, 5pm, TNT Sports 2 Followed by Monaco v Man City, plus Arsenal v Olympiacos on TNT Sports 1, both at 7pm.
